

ABSTRACT

A decorative preformed flower pot cover formed of at least one sheet of polymeric material has a base and a decorative border and is provided with at least a portion of one surface thereof having a texture or appearance simulating the texture or appearance of paper. The texture or appearance simulating paper provides a decorative appearance to the decorative preformed flower pot cover, while the decorative preformed flower pot cover maintains the mechanical and structural characteristics of the sheet of polymeric material.